JAPAN'S BIG BID FOR PACIFIC TRADE

The Island Kingdom is Hustling Some For Sea Supremacy

Victoria, Oct. 22.—Big chances are in prospect in the trans-Pacific trade as a result of the new conditions being brought about as a result of the interstate commerce commission ruling affecting United States railroads and steamers connecting with them. The share of joint through rates is published. A San Francisco report says a rate war between the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line and the Pacific Mail Steamship company is anticipated. The Japanese line is reported to have made a reduction of 20 per cent. in the freight rates and the Pacific Mail is reported to have instructed its Oriental agents to meet any reductions made. The San Francisco Examiner says the impending rate war is between the Japanese line and the C.P.R. It says:

What promises to be the most known on this side of the continent and far reaching rate war has been started by two of the big steamship lines operating on the Pacific. The first claim in the rate war has involved the Canadian Pacific Railroad company and the Japanese Nippon Yusen Kaisha Steamship line. The latter is the largest and financially the most powerful line operating on the Pacific and has already started to slash rates unmercifully. The Japanese want to drive their competitors from the Pacific and then handle the freights for the Atlantic coast, which now go to the transatlantic railroads, with a direct line of steamers between New York and Yokohama by way of the Suez canal. They have made their plans for the Suez line and it appears that their first move is to cripple the American line, and strange as it may seem, the strongest ally of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha is carrying out its designs to dominate America's trade with the Orient is the United States government acting through the interstate commerce commission.

The Japanese lines are heavily subsidized by their own government and their operating expenses are the lowest on the ocean. In competition with the Canadian Pacific steamers, however, they are placed under a great disadvantage owing to the fact that their traffic arrangements on this continent are all with American lines, and when they come to forward freight overseas they have to pay the rates set by the interstate commerce law of United States.

The Canadian line, on the other hand, being operated wholly through Canada, is not amenable to any restrictions as to rate cutting and could forward goods from the Pacific coast to Montreal free of charge if it felt inclined to do so.

The design of the Japanese, of course, is to clear all American lines off the ocean and then to establish themselves in absolute control of all freight between Yokohama and New York by organizing lines via the Suez.

Hot After Night Riders

Union City, Tenn., Oct. 22.—With an additional $10,000 practically pledged from citizens of Trenton as reward to be added to a like amount guaranteed by Governor Patterson for the capture of the murderers (dead or alive) involved in the Redfoot lake tragedy in which Capt. Quentin Varlin, a prominent attorney lost his life and in which Col. P. Z. Taylor, one of the richest men in the state narrowly escaped, the hunt for the so-called night riders continued today in three counties of Tennessee and into Kentucky with the militia, several parties headed by the sheriff of various counties and hundreds of special-officers taking part. Governor Patterson himself headed the party and assisted in the arrest of thirty suspicious characters living in the immediate neighborhood of the hotel on Redfoot lake, from which Capt. Rankin and Col. Taylor were taken after midnight on Monday. The majority of the prisoners were later released but John Cochran, looked on as a leader of a gang of post hunters and quakers, who have openly threatened people who have been legally awarded parcels of lands on which they have earned their living for several years, is detained. Cochran attempted to escape in a skiff. He swam through underbrush and into the brushy copse of the lake, which is more than ten miles wide, but was overhauled by a gasoline launch. Tonight all reports from the rural districts and from Hamberg, where martial law has been proclaimed, are to the effect that quiet reigns but a nervous, if troubled, state is being felt by the natives, hundreds of whom are in sympathy with the federalists, resent bitterly the presence of uniformed soldiers with loaded guns in time peace as they claim. Col. Taylor passed through Union City this afternoon on the Tennessee to Knoxville on a special train with an armed escort.

OLIVER GETTING GENEROUS

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, has promised that the Federal Government will make over to the city of Vancouver all its right and title to the Kitlanalo Indian reserve at the mouth of False Creek and within the city limits. This is the gist of a telegram received yesterday afternoon by W. B. R. McInnes from Hon. Mr. Oliver, and it is in answer to a message sent him by Mr. McInnes asking for confirmation of his statement to the electors of Vancouver from the Dominion its rights to the reserve provided it were converted into a public park.

"At the time that I made that promise," said that before the end of the campaign I would have the authority to back it up," said Mr. McInnes to the morning "and," said this message from Mr. Oliver is to the point. There are three interests concerned in the reserve, the Dominion, the province and the Indians. It is now up to the provincial government to give the city the rights to the reserve if it possesses and when that is done it will be only a matter of making arrangements with the few Indians on the land to vacate. There is a moral right to make provisions for the Indians on the reserve now, some in number, I am informed."

Hon. Foster Sues Globe

Toronto, Oct. 22.—The North Toronto contest took a sensational turn this afternoon when Hon. George Foster, Conservative candidate, took legal action to defend himself against the attacks made upon him for his connection with the Union Trust Company. Two writs for libel were issued. One is against the Globe and Sun, and the other against Mr. J. A. MacDonald, the editor, for $50,000.

Toronto, Oct. 22.—Hon. G. E. Foster will also sue his opponent Shaw for defamation of character. At Brockville to-day MacDonald repeated the statements complained of.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Montreal, Oct. 22.—While a Royal Victoria Hospital ambulance was passing along university street, it was stopped by a man who had just shot himself on the sidewalk. Hysterical from his pain, he was taken to the hospital. The wounded man gave his name as Ernest Charrette, a clerk, and when asked to account for his act, he said, "I am crazy." He left a bullet in his body but will live.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS

New York, Oct. 22.—Although the managers of both parties will make a great effort throughout the remainder of the campaign to get the electoral vote of Ohio and Indiana, New York will have both Tait and Bryan here next week. On Saturday Bryan will arrive here, and Tait on Sunday. Both will spend some time in the city visiting and preparing for the last week of the campaign, which is expected to prove the most strenuous of all. On Monday night the Democrats will hold what is to be their greatest meeting of the campaign when Bryan will speak in Madison Square Garden, under the auspices of Tammany. Tait will give the whole week to New York State. Washington, Oct. 22.—President Roosevelt continues to be most optimistic in his talk with daily visitors. To-day he has reiterated his statement: he expects to see Tait carry more states than were Republican four years ago.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 22.—With a monster meeting here tonight as a climax of the first day, Tait's strenuous tour through Indiana was regarded as a success by Republican leaders with the party. Large crowds greeted the Tait party at all stops, and there was much enthusiasm.

Wheeling, West Virginia, Oct. 22.—Bryan spent the entire day in West Virginia, leaving Parkersburg in the West Central section, on Ohio River, early in the morning, winding up late tonight at Hancock, in Green Briar, Blue Grass region, near the Virginia line. More than a dozen speeches were made, besides many additional short addresses from the rear car of his special train. Everywhere he has been received by large and enthusiastic audiences, and the Democratic state leaders claim that whatever effect the two trips of Tait across the northern end of the state may have had will have been more than offset by the orations given Bryan today.

DR. MCINTYRE'S CARE FOR HIS CONSTITUENCY

Against Rural Mail Delivery and Reduction of Tariff on Agricultural Implements

Less than a year ago the Liberal press throughout the country was speaking with contempt of Mr. R. L. Borden's plan of rural mail delivery and when the motion in favor of it was brought up in the House Dr. McIntyre went the length of saying "MY PEOPLE DON'T WANT IT." As a sample of the government organs we may quote the Albertan editorial of Sept. 27, 1907: "WHILE R. L. BORDEN IS SPEAKING WITH ENTHUSIASM ABOUT THE RURAL DELIVERY OF LETTERS, which is bound to come some day, the postmaster general is going at the postal system in a practical way, and improving the service. He is making it more efficient all along the line, and now proposes to reduce the price of drop letters in cities where there is delivery. The rural delivery of letters in the more thickly populated parts of the United States is costing many millions of dollars above the revenue. In Canada where the country is less thickly populated, the cost would be much greater and the revenue much less. However, WHEN ONE IS HUNTING PLANKS TO BUILD A TEMPORARY PLATFORM WITH, THIS RURAL FREE DELIVERY OF MAIL IS A VERY ATTRACTIVE ONE."

But a change has come over the spirit of the government's dreams. Convictions on any subject they apparently have not got with the single exception that they believe agriculture is justified that will get a vote. At the first big rally of the Liberal party in Ontario, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier started his campaign, the postmaster general delivered an interesting address, in which he held out to the people of Canada a bright but conditions amply justified rural delivery of mail.

Rural delivery has been a plank in Mr. Borden's platform for a long time, though it is only a year since the government sneered at it as impractical. Today, in the face of a general election, the government has stolen the plank and adopted as its that which it had repudiated as absurd.

Don't the government still believe that rural delivery is to be carried on at a loss of many millions of dollars, as stated in the Alberta only a year ago? Or is this sudden change of enthusiasm just the same kind of an anti-clerical cry as its equally sudden conversion to the Hudson's Bay railway? A year ago the postmaster general scoffed at rural delivery. Six months ago he ignored it. Three months ago he had not commenced to think about it. One month ago with the election before him, he grabbed at it.

Mr. Borden's support of rural delivery is sane, sensible and well defined. The government support of rural delivery is a vote-catching device, and more.

THE MOST LUDICROUS FIGURE IN THE WHOLE TRANSACTION IS DR. MCINTYRE, WHO DECLARED SO EMPHATICALLY A FEW MONTHS AGO "MY PEOPLE DON'T WANT IT."

It was not on rural mail delivery, however, that Dr. McIntyre showed his disregard for the interests of his constituents. On April and, 1907, Dr. Schaffner, the Conservative member for Sarnia moved a motion in favor of the reduction of the duty on farm implements. The terms of the motion which are TO BE FOUND ON PAGE 575 OF HANSARD, are AS FOLLOWS:

"That the committee reconsider item 445, and that it be amended by striking out the figures 75 per cent. in the general tariff and inserting in lieu thereof the figures 10 per cent." On page 567 of Hansard it is found the following:

"Amendment (Dr. Schaffner), negative. Yeas 22; nays, 56." This vote being in committee the names are not recorded in Hansard, but the names of the western members who supported it, and those who opposed it, were taken down by the members in the press gallery; and these names appeared in different newspapers in the west on the 3rd day of April, 1907. These are as follows, as taken from the newspapers of the date, and which can be verified by affidavit, or otherwise by representatives of the Liberal newspapers from the west, in the press gallery at Ottawa.

IT THUS APPEARS THAT A REDUCTION OF THE DUTY ON FARM IMPLEMENTS WAS SUPPORTED BY THE ENTIRE DELEGATION OF WESTERN CONSERVATIVES, AND WAS OPPOSED BY A UNANIMOUS VOTE OF THE WESTERN LIBERAL MEMBERS, INCLUDING DR. WILBERT MCINTYRE.

LADIES ARE TRIUMPHANT.

London, Oct. 22.—The Suffragettes succeeded in bringing two members of the British cabinet, David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Herbert John Gladstone, secretary of State for Home Affairs, as witnesses to how street police station this morning.

The occasion was the hearing of the cases against Mrs. and Miss Pankhurst and Mrs. Drummond, who were tried for inciting to disorder when they appeared early in the month to get the public to help them "break the Home of Commons, and seventeen other women women who were arrested on Oct. 13, charged with disorderly conduct. A large crowd, including many suffragettes, were present.

Miss Pankhurst, examined the two cabinet members. The purpose of her questions, many of which were disallowed by the Judge, was to show that if the government gave way to the rights, the disorder would come to an end. After an examination of the two ministers, which lasted all day long, Miss Pankhurst announced that she still had fifty other witnesses to call. Mrs. and Miss Pankhurst and Mrs. Drummond were remanded until Saturday, and the others until tomorrow.

MR. OLIVER AND LABOR

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—R. J. Pettigrew, organizer of the Typographical Union, who has just returned to Vancouver from the Trades and Labor Congress at Halifax, says in an interview in which he sizes up the political situation:

Coming to Alberta we have the interesting presence of our old friend, Hon. Frank Oliver. He is not the Mr. Oliver with whom I held camps twelve years ago on the Edmonton Bulletin. Nowadays he has taken on the polish and suaveness of the professional politician. The environment of Ottawa has played its brand upon him. Just now he is delivering a series of political addresses throughout the west, proclaiming the undying sympathy for labor of the Liberal government. But he has overlooked a practical demonstration of this sympathy by refusing to sign up with the Typographical union to his own office. Oliver's campaign manager, Duncan Marshall, is an eastern politician, who handles the money and the fine points of the campaign.

ECCLIASTICAL PROMOTIONS.

Rome, Oct. 21.—Among those who will receive the cardinal's hat at the approaching consistory is the most Rev. Francis Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, who was prominently identified with the ecumenical congress recently held in London.

TOGO GREET U. S. FLEET

Tokyo, Oct. 22.—Two official luncheons, Admiral Togo's magnificent garden party, a dinner given by Premier Katsura, and a ball at his residence, were the principal features among the innumerable forms of lavish entertainment offered the officers and men of the United States battleship fleet today. The garden fête, at which Admiral Togo was host, was one of the most elaborate functions of its kind ever seen in Tokyo. It was held in the grounds of the Shijuku Imperial Garden, which are the property of the Empress. The invitations numbered 1,500 and the guests included all the American officers of higher rank and Japanese from every walk of life. Thomas J. O'Brien, the United States ambassador, Rear-Admiral A. S. Sponer, and the other admirals, were seated at one table when the banquet was spread under a huge awning. Ambassador O'Brien proposed the health of the Empress, which was received with three cheers, led by the officers of the American fleet.

The sovereign distributed a small gift, a gold cigarette case, to the Japanese and American flags in colored enamel intertwined.

CURRENT COMMENT

It is regret very much to hear from private resources of unimpeachable veracity that the administration of the Dominion Lands in some districts in the North-West Dominion of Canada is infected with corruption, a malady to which all Administrations, especially the new set of Commissioners, are peculiarly prone. This, however, renders it all the more necessary for the unslapping vigilance of those charged with the execution of the post. Unfortunately, there seems to be, whether from political or other causes, a disposition in some high places to turn the blind eye to evidence proving the existence of the cancer. This ought not to be. The appearance of the phylloxera in the vineyard is now more fatal than the existence of corrupt officials, who keep black-mail on unfortunates, in the shape of bribes extorted before they will complete the transfer of homesteads. The subject is one which concerns the Home country, whose sons go forth to settle these Western lands, almost as much as it concerns the Canadian Administration itself. Energetic measures of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Frank Oliver towards the state of things in the Yukon also only one isolated case of government neglect is a sure indication of how little these Home concerns them. "You cannot lay any personal charges against either," say our Grit friends. We make this charge and surely it is specific and serious enough that after being privately and repeatedly made acquainted personally by Mr. Pringle of the condition of affairs in the Yukon, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Oliver, rather than offend their party although a state of things existed which the London Times described as a disgrace to the flag, and Mr. Pringle's words true, "Unfortunately taken at once may, and I hope will, avoid any necessity for referring again to this subject."

This is not a "fury scandal" but an extract from the September Review of Reviews, a magazine of world wide standing which is edited by W. T. Stead, a man who is a most advanced Liberal and has a cosmopolitan reputation for radical views. The responsibility for having these views promulgated rests on the shoulder of the moral politicians who will tolerate graft of any and every description rather than offend the masses. The present government have relegated to the background the old well-known view are that "Righteousness shall build a Nation," and are cynically indifferent to what happens so long as they retain power. The view seems to be, whether from political or other reasons, a disposition in some high places to turn the blind eye to evidence proving the existence of the cancer. The government, in a party before principle, and values votes higher than honor. When charged they wash their hands in invisible soap and mutter "Oh, these things are inseparable in our form of party government." It is not true. What we want is a new man and new methods. The question of the political party is a secondary one to the question of political party. The awakened conscience of a nation calls for a government that will be true to the interests of the nation, and not of its party leaders, agreement that will follow lofty ideals and abandon the culture of bores. We believe that so thoroughly has the present government become saturated in corruption that it is impossible to abate.

clean it from within as suggested by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and that the salvation of the country depends on its sweeping it out of office.

Here are a few of the things laid bare by the Civil Service Commission: Messrs. J. M. Courtney, Thomas Fyfe and P. J. Brazil, appointed by the government to make official enquiry into the department.

"There are officers enough in the department, both inside and outside, to do all the work efficiently, if they were properly trained and organized, but there is no efficient organization. The only attempt at it is the appointment of men whose titles would seem to indicate what their duties are, but those duties have never been specially defined. There is no record of anything of thinking, and there are no written or printed rules and regulations known in the service, which your Commissioners think is lamentable."

"It is practically impossible to fix responsibility on anyone. The deputy is supposed to shoulder responsibility for everything, as his signature shows but that means that he speaks for the 'department,' and 'the department,' like the King, can do wrong. There seems to be a huge redundancy of work which proceeds in lumbering, hapnass way, giving rise to constant blundering and confusion. There is no visible sign of a single directing hand, or an intelligent purpose, unless it be that of spending as much money as possible. Zeal for economy and good management, or pride in the work, is not visible. Perfunctory and mechanical discharge of duties is the rule, with apparently no perception of any need for improvement."

"There is not only lack of efficient organization and method in the department. There would also seem to be a lack of conscience. In connection with the enormous expenditures which are deemed necessary, the word 'discount' never appears. It is tacitly assumed that there is no such thing but the whole commercial world however knows otherwise. If no one gets any benefit from trade with the government except the trader, then it must be clear that if these great purchases made for the government without discount its officers be assisting the trader to get better prices than the government than he can get anywhere else; for, everywhere else he has to give discount. In other words some of the gov't's servants serving two masters, and apparently succeeding with both—scripture notwithstanding."

"It seems strange that this question has never been courageously asked and dealt with. There is evidently a power in the hands of responsible officers of some of the departments which they can exercise without the necessity of giving any account of it, and with the most demoralizing consequences all round. It is certain that under such a state of things it must be impossible to develop high character in the service, or rather to prevent the deterioration of what character there is."

"The political pull has much to do with this (last condition of the Department), and no radical improvement need ever be expected until the political pull is completely eliminated from all branches of the service."
